1. BACKGROUND INFORMATION

In Tobago there is a need for the establishment of a Wildlife Nature Park that will provide further conservation to our wildlife resources, and greater opportunity for appreciation, revenue generation, research, outreach and education. Presently, there are natural areas in Tobago such as our oldest Forest Reserve in Bloody Bay, the Game Sanctuary on Little Tobago, and the Grafton Bird Sanctuary that are mainly used for bird watching. The proposed Lure Wildlife Nature and Adventure Park will be a first class Eco product that will utilize the natural features of indigenous wildlife, waterfalls, rivers, trails and archaeology. Thus, providing a wider variety of recreational and adventure activities, maintaining conservation, and contributing to the economy of Tobago.

This Park will occupy 140 acres of the Lure Estate located in Goldsborough, Tobago. The entire Lure Estate is approximately 382 acres comprised of rich biodiversity, indigenous wildlife, waterfalls, and the Goldsborough River. The upper part of the Goldsborough River Basin is the Main Ridge Forest Reserve and the lower end of this reserve is the Goldsborough Landmark.

This project seeks to engage the eastern rural communities in the co-management of ecological, archaeological, and cultural resources to derive sustainable livelihoods primarily for the local people but ultimately for the wider community of Tobago. This park embodies five fundamental pillars, namely: Eco Tourism, Agro Tourism, Adventure Tourism, Research Tourism, and Cultural or Heritage Tourism. As an Eco Tourism concept it will capitalize on the ecological heritage, i.e., the natural flora, fauna and water resources within the Goldsborough area. Agro Tourism will serve to revive traditional agriculture, namely: cocoa while giving new impetus to small farmers within the proposed development area. Adventure Tourism will provide adventure by soaring over the canopy with zip lines. Finally, all areas of this park and the Cultural/Archaeological Heritage will be utilized as a marketing tool to increase the transient population to this proposed park.

Much reconnaissance work was done for this proposed Wildlife, Nature and Adventure Park in Tobago that resulted in a Concept Note, identification of a location and a Study Tour in Costa Rica to learn from similar type parks there. The Study Tour in Costa Rica provided additional information, guidance and network opportunities that lead to this phase. It is now necessary for a Comprehensive Feasibility Study to be conducted as the next phase of the development of this proposed park.
